

Anna Scanlin is a current resident at the Georgetown University/Washing Hospital Center Emergency Medicine program. She was an undergraduate student at the University of Texas at Austin where she obtained a Bachelor of Science in Nutrition. She graduated medical school with a distinction in medical education from the University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio. She visited Georgetown for an away rotation during her 4th year of medical school and knew this was where she wanted to be for residency. She has been a member of ACEP since medical school and is excited to be more involved with the DC Chapter.