

Melissa Templeton is one of the Resident Directors from MedStar Georgetown/WHC. She is a rising 2nd year EM resident (Class of 2023) and practices primarily out of Washington Hospital Center, as well as Georgetown University Hospital. She grew up outside of Boston (Go Sox!) and stayed in New England for both her undergraduate and medical degrees, attending Northeastern University and Quinnipiac University, respectively. Melissa found herself moving to DC after a fantastic away rotation at Georgetown as a medical student and is enjoying exploring a new city during her free time. She looks forward to becoming involved in the DC ACEP chapter this year.
